Piraeus, the historic naval center

The city of Piraeus, located about 8km southwest of Athens' city center, along the east coast of the Saronic Gulf in the Athens Riviera, has a rich ancient history.

From ancient times until today, it represents the harbouring part of the Athenian capital, being the naval base of triremes, the historical Athenian ships of the Pericleian Golden Age, while being fortified with the Themistokleian walls, parts of which are still preserved to this day.

Today, the port of Piraeus is the chief port in Greece, the 3rd largest passenger port in Europe and the 25th largest cruise passenger port in the world, serving about 8.27 million passengers annually. With a throughput of 5.44 million TEUs, Piraeus is among the ten busiest ports in Europe in terms of container traffic, and the busiest container port in the Eastern Mediterranean.

Being considered the Athenian heart of commercial trade due to the port, Piraeus represents one of the richest cultural and economical centers of the country, with numerous markets, museums, parks and universities, with the "University of Piraeus" having more than 30.000 graduates in total.

During the last decade, the city is undergoing a vast development, with the construction of "The Piraeus Tower" as well as numerous luxury hotels, such as "Piraeus City Hotel" & "The Port Square Hotel".

The Piraeus Tower

Constructed in 1974 in the place of the ancient Piraeus Agora, facing the renowned Piraeus port, the Piraeus Tower represents one of the most emblematic buildings in the area, yet to remain unexploited for decades.

In 2020 the Reconstruction of the building by a consortium of DIMAND, EBRD and PRODEA Investments, transforms the Piraeus Tower into a magnificent 88-floor construction ready to house various business offices, shops and restaurants on the ground floor. At the same time, the construction of luxury villas on the top floors, is among the company's future plans regarding the Tower.

Undeniably, the Piraeus Tower represents a centerpiece for the city, adding consistently to its economical development, bringing numerous investment opportunities in Piraeus and thus renewing the general image of the Piraeus port.

- Municipal Theatre of Piraeus - A neoclassical building, with capacity of 600 seats, designed by architect Ioannis Lazarimos and first established in 1895. Its new, more modern operation began on 2013, after the astonishing and monumental building's restoration after and begun operating with new plays. (400m from the property).

- Marina Zeas - The Bay of Zea, since Ottoman times and until recently known as Paşalimanı is a broad bay located at the eastern coast of the Piraeus, representing the biggest military harbour, during ancient times, where the fleet of triremes were built. Following its renovation in 2004, marina Zeas now has more than 670 berths of boats, as well as numerous restaurants and bars throughout its range. (1,3 km from the property).
